Gaming in the living room is getting an upgrade with GeForce NOW .

This GFN Thursday, kick off the weekend streaming GeForce NOW on Samsung TVs, with upcoming support for 4K resolution.

Get started with the 10 new titles streaming this week.

Plus, Yes by YTL Communications, a leading 5G provider in Malaysia, today announced it will soon bring GeForce NOW powered by Yes to gamers across the country. Stay tuned for more updates.

GeForce NOW is making its way to 2021 Samsung Smart TV models, and is already available through the Samsung Gaming Hub on 2022 Samsung TVs, so more players than ever can stream from GeForce NOW — no downloads, storage limits or console required.

Even better, gaming on Samsung Smart TVs will look pixel perfect in 4K resolution . 2022 Samsung TVs and select 2021 Samsung TVs will be capable of streaming in 4K, as Samsung's leadership in game-streaming technology and AI upscaling optimizes picture quality and the entire gaming experience.

The new TV firmware will start rolling out at the end of the month, enabling 4K resolution for Samsung Smart TV streamers with an RTX 3080 membership. RTX 3080 members will be able to stream up to 4K natively on Samsung Smart TVs for the first time, as well as get maximized eight-hour gaming sessions and dedicated RTX 3080 servers.

GFN Thursday delivers new games to the cloud every week. Jump into 10 new additions streaming today.
